

Hello from Henley Malta

We are very busy here at the Henley Malta office with applications for our new cohort starting next year. We are, of course, very happy with recent rankings that Henley attained that reconfirms Henley position as a top business school year after year. This tradition of excellence and a long standing reputation for teaching and research in the areas of international business, leadership, corporate reputation and international finance together with special emphasis on personal development makes the Henley MBA an intense and rewarding experience. Henley Business School has been developing leaders for over 65 years and the Henley MBA is welcomed worldwide as a leading business and management qualification.
