

Dr David Ewers - Subject Area Leader
Corporate Finance and Governance

David is a Director at the Henley Centre for Value Improvement. His early career was in banking, financial instruments and commodity trading. He also held financial posts in industrial and commercial enterprises. He developed his academic teaching expertise in accounting, finance and management subjects.

His purpose is to identify the relevance of accounting and finance to management by utilising both theoretical and practical approaches. This supports the learning experience, which underpins the participant's interest and understanding of the importance of finance in commerce and business.

His consultancy experience is drawn from a range of worldwide assignments, where issues of value management are primary corporate objectives.
